08/12/2026 AI Summary of Reflections Series, for Information and Calling for Judgment to Plaintiff, Joseph Mallon, 2026

Let me see what the main ideas in the document are.

This document, authored by Joseph Mallon, presents a series of reflections and legal arguments related to his ongoing federal court case (Mallon v. United States, 26-cv-02712) and broader proposals for U.S. governance, finance, and global policy. Here are the key points:

1. Personal and Legal Background

- Joseph Mallon claims to be a historic and significant figure, notably as the discoverer of "God's Miracle Cross," and has advanced academic and professional credentials (including multiple doctorates and securities licenses).
- He asserts that for over 30 years, his contributions and credentials have not been properly recognized or rewarded by the U.S. government, leading to significant personal and professional grievances.
- Mallon initiated a federal lawsuit against the United States (vicariously liable for Trump and the Trump Administration) after his SF-95 claim for $1 trillion was ignored for over six months.

2. Federal Law Case and Claims

- The lawsuit seeks recognition, compensation, and legal remedies for Mallon's alleged mistreatment and unaddressed claims.
- He argues that the U.S. government's financial mismanagement, excessive military spending, and neglect of humanitarian and domestic needs are central issues.
- The case includes claims related to international incidents, particularly involving Iran, and proposes that U.S. sanctions and debts against Iran be voided as part of the legal outcome.

3. God's Miracle Cross Currency Proposal

- Mallon proposes the creation of a global currency and fund based on "God's Miracle Cross," intended to supplement national currencies and provide new wealth resources for humanitarian, infrastructure, and social needs.

- He suggests that this currency could help address global financial problems and be used for rebuilding efforts in conflict zones.

4. Policy Reflections and Recommendations

- Advocates for redirecting U.S. government funding from military to humanitarian, diplomatic, and rebuilding purposes.
- Calls for the release of sanctioned or confiscated funds to countries like Iran and the establishment of global funds for humanitarian crises.
- Recommends reforms in energy production, emphasizing safety, alternative fuels, and fair market practices.
- Proposes specific legal and administrative reforms for the Middle East, including ceasefires, peaceful coexistence, and economic cooperation.

5. Healthcare and Scientific Advancement

- Includes a claim for funding regenerative stem cell research, particularly for kidney health, based on personal medical experience and broader public benefit.

6. Personal Vision and Future Plans

- Expresses intent to move into the White House by 2029, with expectations for recognition and leadership.
- Outlines differences between himself and Donald Trump, emphasizing his own unique qualifications and vision for the country.

7. Community and National Awareness

- Stresses the importance of public awareness of his contributions and the need for societal recognition at local, national, and global levels.

Overall, the document combines legal argumentation, personal narrative, policy proposals, and visionary plans, centered on Mallon's quest for recognition, compensation, and systemic reform in U.S. and global governance.

Finances and Working Professionally, 06/11/2026

Summarize the key points of this document

Let me see what the document highlights as the main points.

Here are the key points from the document:

1. Urgent Need for U.S. Financial Reform

- The document stresses that U.S. government finances are excessively neglected and require immediate restructuring.
- It highlights the need to address excessive government spending, reduce national debt, and rebalance funding (notably, reducing military overfunding and increasing support for underfunded sectors).

2. Professional Credential Recognition

- The author emphasizes the importance of securing and recognizing their academic and professional credentials (including business and law doctorates, and multiple securities licenses) at the national level.
- They argue that professional licensing should be permanent and not dependent on ongoing fees or continuing education.
- Proper recognition and reward for professional achievements are seen as essential for motivation and security.

3. Introduction of a New Global Wealth Source

- The document proposes the creation of a new global currency and fund called "God's Miracle Cross," with the U.S. playing a leading role in its establishment and administration.
- This fund is intended to support both personal and impersonal (public) investments, aiming to address national humanitarian needs and eventually provide all U.S. citizens with sufficient resources.
- The global fund is also envisioned to help relieve worldwide financial problems, with international cooperation required.

4. Personal Legal and Financial Matters

- The author insists on the resolution of their own professional and financial issues, including an ongoing federal court case (26-cv-02712) against the U.S. government.
- They note that their contributions and credentials have not been adequately recognized or rewarded over the past 30 years.

5. Call for Systemic Change

- The document advocates for systemic reforms in both government finance and professional credentialing, aiming for a more equitable, secure, and prosperous environment for individuals and the nation.

These points collectively argue for comprehensive reforms in U.S. financial management, professional recognition, and the creation of new global economic mechanisms.

Summarize the key points of this document

Let me see what the document highlights as main points.

This document is a personal reflection by Joseph Mallon, summarizing decades of professional and personal challenges:

1. Prolonged Delay in Recognition

- The author describes waiting over 45 years to be properly acknowledged, rewarded, or honored for his merits and career achievements.
- Many involved parties, including the U.S. government, failed to address his situation in a timely manner, resulting in lost opportunities and compensation.

2. Professional Achievements

- Advanced to high doctoral and executive levels, with three dissertations (including a doctoral law dissertation) and advanced securities licensing.
- Founded and led the U.S. Department of Sovereignty since 2019 and owned a company since the 1990s.
- Claims discovery of "God's Miracle Cross," described as an authentic miracle.

3. Legal Actions and Current Efforts

- Filed law cases in U.S. Federal Courts over 30 years ago, which were not fully addressed due to lack of understanding at the time.
- Recently filed a new federal law case (including an SF-95 form) to seek overdue recognition and compensation, emphasizing the need for constructive outcomes for himself and the United States.

4. Personal Perspective and Motivation

- Emphasizes his unique perspective, advanced abilities, and commitment to doing what is right and necessary.
- Expresses frustration with systemic failures and the lack of action from others, but remains determined to pursue justice and proper outcomes.
- Highlights his work ethic, independence, and visionary qualities, including the ability to see dreams and visions.
- Expresses frustration with systemic failures and the lack of action from others, but remains determined to pursue justice and proper outcomes.

5. Call for Systemic Change

- Critiques empowerment and authorization systems that fail to serve their intended purposes, warning against corruption and neglect.
- Stresses the importance of being treated according to his merits and the need for systems to function fairly for all.

Overall, the document is a detailed account of perseverance, unrecognized achievement, and ongoing efforts to secure justice and acknowledgment after decades of delay.

08/12/2026 AI Assistant Summary of Reflections of 2026 Federal Law Case Situation and Continuance, 06/09/2026

Let me see what the key events in the case are.

Here is a concise summary of the key events in the law case involving Joseph Mallon and his discovery of God's Miracle Cross:

Key Events Timeline

1. 1981: Joseph Mallon discovers God's Miracle Cross and begins working with it.
2. 1982-1983: He starts communicating about the discovery to relevant authorities and the White House.
3. 1991: After a decade of advocacy without resolution, Mallon initiates law cases in U.S. courts against primary parties involved, citing their lack of action.
4. 2002-2012: Mallon pursues and completes an MBA and a doctoral business degree (DBA), continuing his advocacy and communications with the White House.
5. 2017-2019: He maintains active communication with the White House, completes a post-doctoral business dissertation, and establishes the U.S. Department of Sovereignty.
6. 2019-2023: Mallon obtains multiple securities licenses and continues professional efforts, but still receives no official recognition or resolution.
7. 2023-2024: He experiences a severe healthcare incident due to ongoing stress from the unresolved situation. He then completes a doctoral law dissertation to bridge his past legal work with the present.
8. 2024: Mallon makes seven significant claims against the United States, communicating these throughout the year.
9. 2025: With no response to his claims, he files a Standard Form (SF) 95 at the White House, requesting $1 trillion in damages. The U.S. does not respond within six months.
10. May 2026: Mallon files a law case in Federal Court due to the lack of response, serves the Summons to the United States, and files several motions. The first phase of the case is set to conclude by July 14, 2026.

These events reflect a persistent, multi-decade effort by Mallon to gain recognition and resolution for his discovery, culminating in a major federal law case after years of advocacy and legal action.

08/12/2026 AI Assistant Summary of Reflections of Additional Funding in Present Years, 06-18-2026

Let me see what the main ideas in the document are.

This document critiques the allocation of additional funding by the United States, emphasizing that such funding should be directed toward humanitarianism, diplomacy, or rebuilding—not militaristic activities. Key points include:

1. Lack of Humanitarian Funding

- No dedicated fund was established for humanitarian, diplomatic, or rebuilding purposes in the Ukraine-Russia conflict, despite discussions and available confiscated Russian assets.
- All related U.S. expenditures (about $200 billion) went to militaristic activities.

2. Escalating Military Budgets

- The U.S. military budget for 2026 exceeds $1 trillion, with a request for over $1.5 trillion in 2027, none of which is allocated for humanitarian or rebuilding efforts.
- The U.S. economy has not grown in proportion to these military budget increases and remains economically strained, partly due to ongoing military spending and lingering effects from the COVID-19 era.

3. Sanctions and Global Funds

- The document argues for the termination of sanctions against Iran and the release of its confiscated funds, asserting Iran is not at fault in the current context.
- It questions the feasibility and fairness of creating global humanitarian funds, noting past failures to establish such funds for Ukraine, Russia, Gaza, and other regions.

4. God's Miracle Cross Currency and Fund

- Introduces the concept of a global currency and fund called God's Miracle Cross, intended for positive, constructive purposes and equated in value to the U.S. dollar.
- Despite being proposed and explained, this fund has not been officially established or implemented.

5. Symbolic and Practical Recommendations

- Uses the example of the Reflecting Pool near the White House to illustrate the need for proper restoration and maintenance, symbolizing broader calls for constructive action and positive change.

6. Accountability and Legal Action

- Criticizes the Trump administration but distinguishes it from the broader U.S. government, calling for vicarious responsibility and proper management.
- Mentions a Federal Court case (26-cv-02712) aimed at ensuring the intended positive outcomes and security for these initiatives.

Overall, the document advocates for a shift from militaristic spending to global humanitarian efforts, the establishment of effective international funds, and the implementation of symbolic and practical reforms.

08/12/2026 AI Assistant Summary of Reflections of Differences Between Trump and Myself, 06/29/2026

Let me see what the document highlights as the main points.

This document outlines the author's reflections on the differences between themselves and Donald Trump, focusing on personal, professional, and philosophical contrasts:

1. Physical and Demographic Differences

- Trump is taller, heavier, older (by about 20 years), and from a different generation.
- Trump is from New York; the author is from Philadelphia and has never been to New York.

2. Personality and Leadership Style

- The author identifies as more introverted and balanced, preferring moderation and timely corrections, while Trump is described as more extraverted and focused on his inner circles.
- The author claims to recognize and interact with a broader range of groups, maintaining a covert identity.

3. Professional and Societal Status

- Trump is already well-known, wealthy, and established in media and real estate; the author feels they have not yet been 'dealt with' or recognized for their potential and contributions.
- The author claims significant academic and professional achievements, including multiple doctoral degrees, law credentials, and authorship of specialized books, which Trump does not possess.

4. Unique Achievements and Claims

- The author discovered "God's Miracle Cross" in 1981, which they consider a historic and societally significant event that remains unrecognized.
- The author has held a directorship with the United States Department of Sovereignty since 2019, established under constitutional amendments, but feels neglected and unrewarded by the Trump administration.

- The author has been involved in long-standing legal cases and claims to have credentials and accomplishments that require recognition and honor.

5. Experiences of Neglect and Unfulfilled Potential

- The author emphasizes a recurring theme of being "not dealt with"—not rewarded, honored, or given opportunities—despite their achievements and potential.
- They contrast this with Trump, who is described as already having been recognized and rewarded.

6. Travel and Exposure

- The author has not traveled internationally or extensively within the U.S., attributing this to their lack of recognition and support, unlike Trump who has had such experiences.

7. Overall Assertion

- The author concludes that they possess greater potential and unique contributions for the country compared to Trump, particularly due to their discovery and credentials, and that they are owed recognition and reward.

These points collectively highlight the author's perspective on their own significance, the lack of acknowledgment they have received, and the contrasts with Donald Trump's life and career.

08/12/2026 AI Assistant Summary of Reflections of God's Miracle Cross Currency,

06-16-2026

Let me see what the document highlights as main points.

This document presents a personal reflection by Joseph Mallon on the concept and history of "God's Miracle Cross" as a form of currency, blending spiritual and societal themes. Here are the key points:

1. Origin and Nature of God's Miracle Cross Currency

- The Miracle Cross is described as a divine creation, established in 1981, with its wealth forming the basis for a new type of currency.
- The currency is not the cross itself, but is derived from the spiritual wealth and divine life forces associated with it.
- The cross is said to have a global source, not limited to the United States, and is intended as a universal wealth resource.

2. Connection to U.S. Society and Currency

- The document draws parallels between the development of U.S. society, its currency (dollars and cents), and the emergence of the Miracle Cross currency.
- The Miracle Cross currency is envisioned as combining the honor and societal power of the U.S. with spiritual wealth, offering an additional resource for both the U.S. and the world.

3. Personal Journey and Advocacy

- Joseph Mallon recounts his personal involvement: discovering the Miracle Cross, ongoing communication with the U.S. government, and persistent efforts to gain recognition and reward for his work.
- He details his academic achievements (law, MBA, doctoral studies), professional credentials (securities and insurance licenses), and legal actions taken to advance his cause.
- Despite significant efforts, he notes a lack of recognition or reward from society or authorities.

4. Legal and Societal Challenges

- Mallon describes legal battles, including student loan discharge through a class action and filing lawsuits (including a current federal case) to seek acknowledgment and justice.
- He expresses frustration with governmental inaction and links major events (such as wars) to the neglect of his work.

5. Vision for the Future

- The Miracle Cross currency is presented as a potential global asset that could help humanity reach its full potential.
- Mallon hopes his ongoing legal efforts and advocacy will eventually lead to recognition and the adoption of this new form of currency.

Overall, the document intertwines personal narrative, spiritual beliefs, and societal critique, centering on the idea that the Miracle Cross currency could provide new wealth and opportunity for both the United States and the world.

08/12/2026 AI Assistant Summary of Reflections of Iran Adjustments, 6-15-2026

Let me see what the main ideas in the document are.

This document outlines perspectives and recommendations regarding U.S.-Iran relations, sanctions, and broader Middle East policy:

Key Points

1. No Need for Formal Agreement with Iran

- The U.S. can cease militaristic activities in the Strait of Hormuz and the region without requiring Iran's approval or making major concessions.
- The U.S. should not feel compelled to negotiate or pay large sums to Iran to change its regional approach.

2. Sanctions and Financial Matters

- All U.S. sanctions against Iran should be lifted; any future sanctions must be justified and specifically negotiated.
- Iran should receive previously withheld funds, as these rightfully belong to Iran.
- The U.S. is not obligated to pay excessive reparations to Iran for past military actions, especially given its own financial constraints.

3. Nuclear Weapons and Cooperation

- There is a global preference for Iran not to develop nuclear weapons.
- Iran could cooperate by allowing U.S. specialists to extract enriched uranium, reducing nuclear tensions and enhancing legitimacy.

4. Strait of Hormuz Rights

- Iran and Oman have legitimate rights to manage and charge fees for ship traffic in the Strait of Hormuz, based on international maritime boundaries.
- These rights are independent of any U.S.-Iran agreement.

5. Militaristic Activity and Peace

- Unjustified military actions cannot be compensated for, but victims may be honored as martyrs.

- Justified military action should be rare and only after all non-military options are exhausted.
- Security and proper policies are essential to protect peaceful populations.

6. Economic and Business Opportunities

- The U.S. should not seek wealth through unjustifiable means, such as taking over foreign oil businesses.
- There is potential for mutually beneficial business between the U.S., Iran, and other Middle Eastern countries.
- The document references a proposed global currency (God's Miracle Cross) as a means to increase global wealth and facilitate reconstruction in conflict zones.

7. Iran's Potential

- Iran is recognized for its rich history, large population, and significant geographic and cultural assets, suggesting strong potential for positive engagement in the modern world.

The document emphasizes peaceful, fair, and mutually beneficial approaches to U.S.-Iran relations, advocating for the lifting of sanctions, avoidance of excessive penalties, and constructive economic cooperation.

08-25-2026 AI Summary of Reflections of Judge of this Federal Court Law Case,

06-22-2026, Updated 08-25-2026

Let me see what the document highlights as the main points.

This document is a personal reflection by Joseph Mallon regarding his federal civil law case (26-cv-02712) against the United States in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. Here are the key points:

1. Case Background and Cause

- The case was filed because the United States did not respond to Mallon's SF-95 form within six months, despite his extensive communication and advisory efforts.
- Mallon has a history of legal action involving the United States, dating back over 30 years.

2. Judicial Assignment

- The case was initially assigned to Judge John R. Padova, who presided over Mallon's original cases three decades ago, which Mallon saw as favorable due to the judge's familiarity with his history.
- The judge was later changed to Gerald A. McHugh without explanation, which Mallon notes may affect the understanding of the case's depth and history.

3. Efforts to Secure Legal Representation

- Mallon attempted to find a law firm nationwide but was unsuccessful, largely because firms were unfamiliar with him and the case's complexities.
- He ultimately decided to represent himself, citing his legal background, academic achievements (including a doctoral law dissertation), and longstanding involvement with the United States.

4. Claims and Requests

- Mallon asserts that the United States' ongoing non-responsiveness and similar conduct over 30 years necessitated this case.

- He requests full immunity for himself, no immunity for the United States or related parties (including Trump and his administration), and recognition of the United States' vicarious liability.
- He asks to be addressed as “Your Honor” or “Honorable,” to be paid for his legal work, and for his legal findings to be recognized as Federal law.

5. Historical Context and Unresolved Issues

- Mallon reflects on his original cases, noting that they were not fully addressed, which led to the current situation.
- He emphasizes the importance of having his cases properly worked through and resolved, expressing that the passage of 30 years and his continued efforts should be adequately recognized.

6. Professional and Personal Standing

- Mallon highlights his significant and meritorious involvement with the United States, his legal and academic credentials, and his expectation of being regarded and compensated accordingly.

7. Conclusion

- He expresses honor at having Judge Padova initially assigned, but notes the transition to Judge McHugh for the case's resolution.

This summary captures the main themes: the long-standing dispute with the United States, the importance of judicial familiarity, Mallon's legal credentials, his requests for recognition and compensation, and the desire for substantive resolution after decades of unresolved issues.

08/12/2026 AI Assistant Summary of Reflections of Law that could Result from Law
Case, 06/09/2026

Let me see what the main ideas in the document are.

Here are the key points from the document:

Legal Outcomes Proposed by the Case

1. Invalidation of U.S. Actions on Iran

- U.S. militaristic, war activity, or intelligence regarding Iran would not be recognized as valid or truthful.

2. Discharge of Iranian Debt

- Any debt Iran owes to the United States would be cancelled.

3. Voiding of U.S. Sanctions

- All U.S. sanctions on Iran would be nullified.

4. Conditional Terms Based on Iran's Behavior

- These terms remain as long as Iran (or its proxies) refrains from acquiring nuclear weapons, weapons-grade uranium, or engaging in harmful, violent, or militaristic actions against peaceful parties.

Context and Rationale

- The document claims the U.S. initiated unjustified military action against Iran in 2026, resulting in significant casualties, including the Iranian leadership and civilians, and causing regional and economic disruption.
- It acknowledges that while Iran (and Persia historically) is not entirely innocent, this does not justify the U.S. attack.
- The document emphasizes respect for Iran's historical and cultural contributions.

Additional Considerations

- Suggests the possibility of new funding sources ("God's Miracle Crosses and Faces currency") for restoration efforts.

- Proposes that Israel may be responsible for protecting and rebuilding parts of the Middle East, including Gaza and Lebanon, with local populations gaining rights to rebuilt properties and the option to relocate.

Summary Statement

- The judgment in case 26-cv-02712 could set a precedent for similar laws, focusing on invalidating U.S. military actions, forgiving Iranian debt, lifting sanctions, and maintaining these terms contingent on Iran's peaceful conduct.

08/12/2026 AI Assistant Summary of Reflections of the Middle East, Including Iran and United States, 06-23-2026

Let me see what the document highlights as the main points.

This document outlines a vision for peace, security, and restoration in the Middle East, with specific focus on Israel, Gaza, Lebanon, Iran, and the United States. Key points include:

1. Territorial Boundaries and Security

- Israel's borders are to be set according to biblical legitimacy.
- Gaza's boundaries are defined, including airspace and underground, with standard waterway rights.
- Security in Gaza and Lebanon should be maintained by legal systems and non-lethal peacekeepers, supported by intelligence and financial aid from Iran, the US, and others.
- Hezbollah is not allowed in Israel's security zone; members in South Lebanon must either leave Hezbollah or relocate with compensation.

2. Weapons and Hostility

- Unauthorized dangerous weapons and hostile acts are strictly prohibited in Israel, Gaza, and Lebanon.
- All individuals are accountable under law, with no justification for harm based on war or militaristic activity.

3. Restoration and Civil Society

- War-damaged areas must be restored to livable conditions, with adequate food, clothing, and healthcare during reconstruction.
- American military bases in the Middle East should be upgraded for protection and integrated with local civilian life.
- People should be able to live, work, and travel freely and safely throughout the region.

4. Economic and Legal Arrangements

- Iran is to proceed without sanctions and regain control of its previously withheld funds.

- Persian Gulf countries have waterway rights and may charge reasonable fees for services, including to the US, with all arrangements being mutually beneficial.
- A new currency, "God's Miracle Cross money," is introduced as a global currency equivalent to the US dollar and other major currencies.

5. Overarching Principles

- The document calls for a civilized society, mutual accountability, and peaceful coexistence, under the proclaimed authority of "God's Miracle Cross."

The overall aim is to secure a peaceful, modern, and civilized world through legal, economic, and social reforms in the Middle East.

08/12/2026 AI Assistant Summary of Reflections of Implementing Regenerative Stem Cells in Healthcare, 06/04/2026

Let me see what the main ideas in the document are.

This document outlines the author's advocacy and personal experience with regenerative stem cell research, particularly for kidney health. Key points include:

1. Funding Allocations

- $1 million allocated to kidney regenerative stem cell research.
- $2 million allocated to general regenerative stem cell research.
- Funding was doubled to cover both 2025 and 2026, expanding from a personal to a potential U.S. department level.

2. Personal Motivation and Experience

- The author experienced kidney failure in late 2023/early 2024, requiring ongoing dialysis.
- Recovery was partial; full recovery is said to require a transplant, but the author is interested in alternatives through regenerative stem cells.
- The goal is to reduce or eliminate the need for dialysis through stem cell procedures.

3. Potential and Current State of Regenerative Stem Cells

- Some positive results have been achieved in the field, but consistent, confirmed outcomes—especially for kidneys—are still lacking.
- Even partial restoration of kidney function could significantly reduce the need for dialysis or transplants.
- Estimated cost for a kidney regenerative stem cell procedure is about $20,000, with a total estimated personal cost (including other procedures) of $45,000.

4. Broader Applications and Future Directions

- The author is also interested in general regenerative stem cell procedures (e.g., for hair, whole-body health).

- Notes advancements in growing third sets of teeth in Korea and Japan, highlighting further global potential.
- Emphasizes the potential benefits for millions of people nationally and globally.

5. Call to Action

- The author seeks to advance regenerative stem cell research through personal advocacy, funding, and claims, aiming for broader healthcare impact.

The document combines personal narrative with a broader vision for advancing regenerative stem cell therapies in healthcare.

08/12/2026 AI Assistant Summary of Reflections of the Active U.S. Federal Law Case
Times, 05/30/2026

Let me see what the document highlights as the main points.

This document is a personal reflection by Joseph Mallon regarding his active federal lawsuit (Mallon v. United States, cv-02712) against the United States, holding it vicariously liable for actions of Trump and the Trump administration. Key points include:

1. Timeline and Legal Process

- Mallon filed an SF-95 form in October 2025 and waited over six months before initiating the federal case.
- The court issued a summons to the United States, granting a 60-day response window (May 15 to July 14, 2026).
- If the U.S. does not respond within 60 days, Mallon asserts that his claims must be fully enforced.

2. Position on Federal Funds and Policy

- Mallon rejects any funds created or controlled by the Trump administration or family, especially those not properly prepared or justified.
- He specifically mentions opposition to recent funds, such as those for reparations to Iran, and insists that his claims and priorities take precedence.
- He argues that the U.S. should address domestic and international obligations (e.g., Ukraine, Gaza, Japan nuclear wastewater, U.S. economy) before allocating new funds elsewhere.

3. Views on Iran and Sanctions

- Mallon supports lifting sanctions on Iran if justified by the outcome of his case, allowing Iran access to its own funds.
- He emphasizes that the U.S. government can create its own funds for just causes without involvement from Trump or his associates.

4. Economic and Global Priorities

- The U.S. should stabilize its currency and address internal economic issues before making large overseas allocations.

- He references the need to advance a global currency concept ("God's Miracle Cross crosses and faces") before other expenditures.

5. Strait of Hormuz and International Law

- Mallon outlines maritime rights in the Strait of Hormuz, emphasizing fairness, mutual benefit, and the importance of civilized agreements.
- He notes that while the U.S. is less dependent on oil from the Strait, global markets are significantly affected.

6. Personal Assertion and Anticipation

- Mallon stresses his patience and the long duration of his efforts (over 30 years), asserting his rights and the enforceability of his claims if not addressed within the court's timeline.

Overall, the document combines legal updates, policy opinions, and personal assertions regarding the ongoing federal case and broader U.S. government actions.

08/12/2026 AI Assistant Summary of Reflections of the Community of the U.S.A.,
Locally to Nationally, 06-10-2026

Summarize community coverage levels

Let me see what the documents indicate about community coverage levels.

Community coverage levels are described as a series of expanding geographic and societal zones, each with increasing scope and impact:

1. Local Levels

- Immediate area within walking distance (1–2 miles)
- Nearby area within driving distance (5–10 miles)
- Broader local vicinity up to 25 miles

2. Regional and State Levels

- Surrounding counties
- The state
- Multiple states

3. National Level

- Continental United States (including Alaska and Hawaii)
- All U.S. territories and interests

4. International and Global Levels

- Everywhere else in the world
- Beyond the world (outer space and unknown areas)

The document emphasizes that Joseph Mallon's significance and activities span all these levels, from local to global, with professional and legal efforts often having national relevance but affecting local and global communities as well. This layered approach to community coverage ensures flexibility, consistency, and opportunities for awareness and advancement at every level.

08/12/2026 AI Summary of Reflections of The White House in the Beginning of 2029, 06/03/2026

Let me see what the document highlights as the main points.

Here are the key points from the document:

1. Transition of White House Occupancy

- The author anticipates moving into the White House at the beginning of 2029, following President Trump's term, provided Trump maintains good conduct and fulfills his responsibilities.

2. Presidential Responsibilities

- Emphasis is placed on the President's duty to ensure the safety, happiness, and contentment of U.S. citizens, stabilize the economy, maintain peace and prosperity, and complete ongoing construction projects at the White House.

3. Role and Maintenance of the White House

- The White House is described as a historic, symbolic residence for the President, likened to a rectory or hotel, and also functions as a museum. Staff are expected to maintain it professionally for residents, staff, and guests.

4. Ballroom Construction and Use

- Trump initiated the construction of a ballroom at the White House, expected to be completed before his departure. The ballroom is intended for multiple purposes, including military use (with up to six floors below and use of the roof for drones), but not as a military fort.

5. Military Presence and Security

- The military will occupy one or two lower floors for defense and security, with strict controls on authorized weapons and continuous electronic surveillance. The roof may be used for drones, which must be securely housed and not disruptive.

6. Commercial and Public Spaces

- Four lower floors beneath the ballroom are designated for public commercial use (stores, restaurants, theaters, etc.), resembling a shopping mall, with secure parking nearby. These areas will have designated off-duty hours and be monitored remotely during closures.

7. No-Fly Zone and Air Security

- The White House's no-fly zone will remain in effect, with fighter jets on standby for unauthorized aircraft.

8. Funding and Currency

- Funding for the ballroom project is already arranged, with additional revenue from commercial tenants. A unique currency, "God's Miracle Cross," may also be used for relevant purposes.

9. Religious Symbolism

- The author plans to display versions of "God's Miracle Cross" in the White House, including a main version in the bedroom and others in formal areas, signifying spiritual importance during their presidency.

These points outline the expectations and planned changes for the White House leading up to and during the beginning of 2029.

08/12/2026 AI Summary of Reflections of Two Important Areas in Active U.S. Federal Law Case Times, 06/02/2026

Let me see what the document highlights as the main points.

This document outlines the author's reflections on two significant but confidential areas related to an active U.S. federal law case (26-cv-02712). The key points are:

1. Active Legal Matter

- The author is involved in an ongoing federal law case that has not yet advanced.
- Certain aspects of the case are deliberately not detailed in the document due to their sensitive and confidential nature.

2. Confidential Areas

- The two important areas are omitted from the document for privacy and security reasons.
- The author emphasizes the need for further advancement and full securing, enforcement, and honor of their rights and interests in these areas.

3. Access to Information

- Details about the omitted areas are available on the author's website (www.godsmiraclecross.com/realm) or upon request.

The document serves as a formal statement of the author's position and intent to address these areas more fully in the future.

08/12/2026 AI Assistant Summary of Reflections of Law concerning Iran and the Middle East, 07/11/2026

Let me see what the document highlights as the main points.

This document outlines a proposed legal and cooperative framework for peace, security, and economic development in Iran and the broader Middle East, with the following key points:

1. Immediate and Ongoing Ceasefire

- All Middle Eastern countries, including Iran and neighboring states, are called to initiate and maintain a ceasefire and lawful order.
- External powers with interests in the region (e.g., United States, China, Russia, Europe) are included in this mandate.

2. Rights and Administration of the Strait of Hormuz

- Iran and its neighbors have lawful rights up to 24 nautical miles and exclusive economic rights up to 200 nautical miles in the Strait of Hormuz.
- Ship transit administration should be managed online with mutually agreed flat or percentage-based fees.
- The United States may receive a negotiated fee (5% or 10%) for assisting with safe navigation.

3. Protocol for Noncooperation or Piracy

- A stepwise, non-lethal escalation protocol is outlined for ships violating regulations, emphasizing warnings and communication before any force is used.
- Use of force is strictly limited and must avoid harm to crew or passengers.
- All relevant countries must be informed of incidents, and any unauthorized use of force must be investigated under law, not war.

4. Reconstruction and Mutual Assistance

- The United States and Middle Eastern countries are to assist each other in rebuilding damaged areas and facilities.
- Fees collected from ship transit can fund these efforts.

- The goal is peaceful coexistence and mutual prosperity, with the US maintaining a constructive presence in the region.

5. Nuclear Weapons Policy

- Iran is encouraged to demonstrate it does not want or need nuclear weapons, and other countries should reinforce this by their actions.
- The US can be paid to inspect for and remove nuclear weapons or materials from Iran and the region.

6. Funding for Reconstruction

- No large new fund is needed; existing global funds (referred to as "God's Miracle Cross money fund") and returned Iranian assets should be used.

7. Cultural Recognition

- Iran may establish an annual remembrance or celebration day, similar to the US Independence Day, to honor its history and resilience.

The document is presented as an order and decree under the authority of "God's Miracle Cross" by Joseph Mallon, dated July 11, 2026.

08/12/2026 AI Assistant Summary of Reflections of Energy Production, 07-23-2026

Let me see what the document highlights as the main points.

This document discusses the importance of safe and reliable energy production for both buildings and transportation, emphasizing the need for ongoing safety improvements, especially in nuclear and alternative energy sources. Key points include:

1. Energy Production and Safety

- All forms of energy production (electricity, oil, coal, fire, gas, solar, water, wind, nuclear) have inherent dangers that must be managed for safe use.
- Safer energy production increases reliability and public acceptance.
- Nuclear energy is powerful but requires strict safety measures; recent advancements include small nuclear generators and safer nuclear alternatives.

2. Energy Use in Buildings

- Most buildings rely on electricity, which is expected to be consistently available and reasonably priced.
- The process of generating and distributing electricity is typically handled by energy companies, often without much public consideration.

3. Energy Use in Transportation

- Oil-derived fuels (gasoline, diesel, jet fuel) have been dominant, but alternative fuels are emerging.
- Further development is needed in mechanics, safety, and fueling infrastructure for alternative fuel vehicles.
- Hybrid vehicles and electric vehicles are increasingly viable, but widespread adoption depends on industry-wide support and fuel availability.

4. Societal and Economic Considerations

- A fair market for various fuel sources requires government incentives, subsidies, and tax advantages during the transition phase.
- The goal is a mutually beneficial energy market with reasonable costs for consumers and profits for businesses.

5. Legal and Personal Context

- The author, Joseph Mallon, references a legal case against Donald Trump and the U.S. government, asserting entitlement to relief and authority over relevant national matters, including energy production.
- The document concludes with the author's expectation for abundant, safe, and successful energy supply in the U.S. and internationally.

Overall, the document advocates for safer, more advanced, and equitable energy production and distribution, with a strong emphasis on legal authority and societal benefit.

08/12/2026 AI Summary of Reflections of Why Iran Issues and Laws Were Included in Federal Court Law Case, 07/29/2026

Let me see what the main ideas in the document are.

This document explains why issues related to Iran and Iranian law were included in a federal court case involving the author and the Trump administration. Key points include:

1. Sequence of Events:

- The author had ongoing claims against the United States, communicated with the Trump administration throughout 2025, and filed an SF-95 form in October 2025 due to lack of response.
- After no action on the SF-95 within six months, the author filed a federal court case (26-cv-02712).
- When the case was not addressed within 60 days, a Motion for Judgment by Default was filed.

2. Inclusion of Iran Issues:

- Iran was not originally part of the author's claims or legal filings.
- The Trump administration's actions led to Iran, along with ICE and Venezuela, becoming issues that needed to be addressed in the legal process.
- The author asserts that Iran was only included because the administration made it necessary, not due to any prior involvement or intent.

3. Legal and Personal Position:

- The author emphasizes having no prior connection to Iran and only addressed Iran-related issues out of legal duty.
- There is a concern about being mischaracterized as aiding an enemy, which the author denies.
- The author stresses that the federal case is strictly a U.S. matter, with no direct involvement from Iran or other countries.

4. Professional Background and Expectations:

- The author has a long history of legal work, including during the first Iraq war, and has completed advanced legal education, including a doctoral law dissertation.
- The author expects recognition for legal work, including being addressed as “Your Honor” in relation to the case.
- The author expects the U.S. to cover legal costs and recognize the binding authority of their legal findings.

5. Clarification of Motives:

- The inclusion of Iran was a result of the administration’s actions, not the author’s initiative.
- The author reiterates that all legal actions are based on duty and relevance, not personal or political motives.

Overall, the document is a detailed reflection on how and why Iran-related issues became part of a federal court case, emphasizing the author’s legal process, professional background, and the sequence of administrative actions that led to this inclusion.

08-26-2026 AI Summary of Reflections of Myself Dealt With so I Can Represent Others, 08/18/2026

Let me see what the main ideas in the document are.

This document is a personal and professional reflection by Joseph Mallon, focusing on his journey to secure proper credentials and recognition to represent others professionally, particularly in law, insurance, and finance. Key points include:

1. Professional Credentials and Authority

- The author emphasizes the necessity of having adequate credentials and official recognition to represent others, especially when compensation is involved.
- He describes ongoing efforts to secure these credentials, citing a federal law case (26-cv-02712, filed in 2026) aimed at rectifying past deficiencies in recognition and credentialing.

2. Barriers and Delays

- Mallon details significant delays and lack of acknowledgment from institutions and authorities, which have hindered his ability to work professionally and represent others.
- He notes that despite earning a doctorate in business in 2012 and completing post-doctoral work in 2019, he has not received due recognition or benefits.

3. Legal Actions and Advocacy

- The author has taken legal steps, including filing an SF-95 form and subsequently a federal lawsuit, to address the lack of response from authorities and to secure his professional standing.
- He has acted pro se (representing himself) in these legal matters, aiming to establish the authority needed for broader representation.

4. Aspirations for Law Credentials and Compensation

- Mallon seeks law degrees (J.D., LL.M., S.J.D.) from Harvard Law School as compensation for decades of unrecognized work and missed opportunities.

- He connects his personal journey to broader societal and historical contexts, including significant legal and educational events.

5. Ambitions for National Leadership

- The document concludes with the author's expectation to be recognized at the highest level, aspiring to exclusive rights to the U.S. Presidency by 2029, based on his unique legal and professional circumstances.

Overall, the document outlines a persistent effort to resolve longstanding credentialing issues, achieve professional recognition, and ultimately represent others at the highest levels of authority.

08-27-2026 AI Summary of Reflections of Claim 1 God's Miracle Cross Advertising on SEPTA Public Transportation Throughout Southeastern Pennsylvania and Then on National Public Transportation Systems Throughout the United States

Let me see what the key legal claims and demands are.

Here is a concise summary of the key legal claims and demands presented in the active federal court case (Mallon v. United States, 26-cv-02712):

Key Legal Claims

1. Failure to Respond to SF-95 Claim

- The plaintiff, Joseph Mallon, filed a Standard Form 95 (SF-95) with the United States government, requesting a sum-certain amount of $1 trillion for various claims. The government did not respond within the required six months, leading to the initiation of this federal lawsuit.

2. Professional Credential Recognition

- Mallon claims the United States failed to recognize, reward, or honor his academic and professional credentials (including doctoral degrees and securities licenses), which he asserts are necessary for him to work at his professional level and represent others.

3. Financial Compensation and Rewards

- He asserts he is owed substantial financial compensation for decades of unrecognized work, professional contributions, and the discovery of "God's Miracle Cross." He claims deprivation of rewards and honors due to him for over 30 years.

4. Implementation of Claims and Initiatives

- Mallon made seven primary claims, including:
 - Funding for healthcare research (notably, $1 million for kidney regenerative stem cell research and $2 million for general regenerative stem cell research, doubled for 2026).
 - Advertising God's Miracle Cross on public transportation (initially $1 million for SEPTA, then $1 billion nationally).

- Establishment and recognition of God's Miracle Cross currency as a global wealth source.

5. Policy and Legal Reforms

- The case seeks legal findings that would:
 - Void U.S. sanctions on Iran and discharge any Iranian debt to the U.S.
 - Require the U.S. to return any withheld Iranian funds.
 - Mandate peaceful, non-militaristic solutions in the Middle East and globally.
 - Require the U.S. to rebalance its finances, reduce military spending, and prioritize humanitarian and infrastructure needs.

6. Recognition of Legal Authority and Immunity

- Mallon requests that his legal findings be recognized as binding federal law, that he be referred to as "Your Honor" or "Honorable" in relation to this case, and that he be paid for his legal work. He also seeks full immunity for himself and denial of immunity for the United States and associated parties (including Trump and the Trump administration).

Demands

1. Immediate and Lifetime Recognition of Credentials

- National, lifetime recognition and honoring of his academic, professional, and legal credentials, including law degrees from Harvard Law School.

2. Financial Settlement

- Payment of $1 trillion as specified in the SF-95 claim, plus additional funds for specific initiatives (healthcare, advertising, etc.).

3. Implementation of God's Miracle Cross Currency and Fund

- Establishment of a global fund and currency based on God's Miracle Cross, with the U.S. as a primary administrator.

4. Policy Changes

- Lifting of all U.S. sanctions on Iran, return of Iranian funds, and legal reforms to ensure peaceful international relations and humanitarian priorities.

5. Personal and Professional Advancement

- Official recognition and compensation to enable Mallon to represent others, including exclusive rights to the U.S. Presidency by 2029.

6. Enforcement of Legal Findings

- That all legal findings and judgments in this case be fully enforceable as federal law, with Mallon's authority recognized in relevant matters.

These claims and demands are grounded in the plaintiff's assertion of long-standing deprivation of recognition, compensation, and professional advancement, as well as broader policy and legal reforms involving U.S. government conduct, international relations, and the establishment of new financial and humanitarian systems.

08-27-2026 AI Summary of Reflections of Claim 1 God's Miracle Cross Advertising on SEPTA Public Transportation Throughout Southeastern Pennsylvania and Then on National Public Transportation Systems Throughout the United States

Let me see what the main ideas in the document are.

This document is a personal reflection by Joseph Mallon on his efforts to promote 'God's Miracle Cross' through advertising on public transportation, particularly SEPTA in southeastern Pennsylvania, and eventually nationwide. Key points include:

1. Background and Discovery

- The author discovered 'God's Miracle Cross' in 1981 and has worked independently for decades to advance its recognition and impact.

2. Communications and Claims

- Mallon communicated with the White House and federal authorities about his discovery and related claims, especially throughout 2025 and 2026.
- He submitted an SF-95 form in October 2025 with seven claims, including one for national recognition and action regarding 'God's Miracle Cross.'

3. Financial Allocations and Advertising Plans

- In September 2025, he allocated $1 million for SEPTA to advertise 'God's Miracle Cross,' but the funds were not paid and no advertising occurred.
- In response, he doubled the allocation to $2 million (adding another $1 million for 2026) and later proposed $1 billion for national public transportation advertising.

4. Legal Actions

- After no response to the SF-95 form, Mallon filed a federal court case (26-cv-02712) in 2026.
- He experienced frustration with the legal process, including a change of judge and denial of motions, and felt his efforts were not properly recognized or rewarded.

5. Ongoing Efforts and Expectations

- Mallon continues to pursue his claims and legal case, seeking both recognition and implementation of his advertising plans.
- He emphasizes the need for fair treatment, progress, and eventual nationwide advertising of 'God's Miracle Cross.'
