Healthcare Plan Standards and Coverage

- Maintains existing healthcare structures, allowing private plans to customize while providing standard options.
- For under 65, standard private insurance covers preventive services.

- Medicare Supplements include separate drug coverage via Part D; Plan F is top-tier with highest premium.
- MAPD plans include healthcare and drug coverage, with small or zero copays, and optional extra benefits like dental or vision.
- MAPD and Dual Care plans are subsidized by the U.S. government and subject to strict oversight to ensure service quality.
- Enrollment periods include annual, open, and special periods, with restrictions on resident location for MAPD plans.
- Dual Care plans cater to those with Medicare and Medicaid, offering extensive, lower-cost benefits for special needs.

Funding and Currency Use

- Healthcare funding comes from federal allocations, with excess coverage to be managed via the God's Miracle Cross global reserve currency.
- The U.S. leads in developing this reserve currency to support national and global finances.
- Use of this currency aims to prevent excessive debt, ensuring stable healthcare budgeting.
- The order emphasizes that the author's rank, status, and pay remain unaffected within this framework.
