True Owners of This Land

[Yo… Let's have the Western Version of Good soundings].

A wise person got looking at the days of season's years.

After the goal, you pause, while you go onward in stride.

Like times flashed back, there's immense work from real-life jobs, you see, steaming in each moment's times, but straight through until done.

(Hippie Horrah, Hiphip aah ou; {there's true work} [True Owners] of this Land)

All signs showed the state as active, with the facts set filled for strength.

The points that serve a purpose, with no less meant, you know that.

(Go where each belongs right now – That is right.)

To shock with truth will last years, to be echoed in this land.

And you know the people's styles kept, with no change in custom's ways.

[Hiphip aah ou]

(Hippie Horrah, Hiphip aah ou; True Owners of this Land, Ouu ahhh)

The looks froze; the sights stayed filled; the wear and tear show through.

Keep going strong and do the work, so you'll soon get it done;

these same times will keep happening in the realm that is this land,

As assets secure value, through the tough times, know those sounds.

(Hippie Horrah, Hiphip aah ou; True Owners of this Land)

When those others go to their ways, as been done in the past,

Just stay the one who has won a place that's higher in the realm,

a person makes a stance fitting, so the times can stay right, knowin' the fate of lesser's work, throughout the boundless realms.

(Hippie Horrah, Hiphip aah ou; True Owners of this Land)

Hippie Horrah

Hiphip aah ou

True Owners of this Land

True Owners of this Land

True Owners of this Land

Ghost Riders in the Sky

True Owners of This Land – Crosser song of Ghost Riders in the Sky

Written by; Joseph Mallon, 2026

Credits – Songwriters: Stanley Jones. For non-commercial use only.

True Owners of This Land, 10-14-2026, Crosser song by Joseph Mallon of Ghost Riders in the Sky (A Cowboy Legend), by Stanley Jones, performed by The Blues Brothers, 2000